Our Mission
We are a leader creating innovative, community-based services which enhance the quality of life for children, youth and families. We work in partnership with others to create a safe and healthy community.
Dear Friends of Janus,

As we look back on the past year, we are in awe of the generosity of our communities and the changes that can happen for our youth when the right door is open for them. Janus' programs are about building futures for the 6,000 individuals we help every year.

In 2019 we opened many doors. We provided rental support and case management for 391 homeless youth, creating safe, stable living for them and 418 of their very young children. We gave scholarship awards to 11 youth, totalling 99 scholarships since the beginning of the program. We provided 27,010 nights of safe shelter in our Portland and Vancouver youth shelters. Our street outreach programs in Portland, Vancouver and Cowlitz County made 14,781 contacts and distributed first-aid and hygiene items to homeless youth. Our Imani residential program added a new building that will provide a recreation room, new offices and allow for expansion of the program to serve more youth. The Hope Partnership hosted an Equine Therapy experience for youth at the MacLaren Youth Correctional Facility.

Janus was named after the Roman god of transition, presiding over doorways. As we enter a new decade, we look forward to what Janus will look like. However it looks, we will continue to open doors for youth, most of whom have no other options. Your dedication and support changes lives. Thank you for joining us in advocating for our youth, giving them a second chance.

2019 Highlights

WASHINGTON PROGRAMS
Caples Terrace Apartments opened in 2019 for homeless youth ages 18-24 or youth aging out of Washington’s foster care system. Two Janus staff have an office in the apartment complex and work in partnership with Bridgeview Education and Employment Resources Center, providing services to help youth achieve full independence.

HOPE PARTNERSHIP
This fall, our Hope Partnership piloted an Equine Therapy program at the MacLaren Youth Correction Facility to enhance mental health services. The six-week pilot was so successful, plans are underway to expand the program in 2020. Beyond the mental health benefits being seen in youth, the program is creating a learning environment for future employment in the large-animal field once a youth leaves the Correction Facility.

SCHOLARSHIPS
11 youth pursuing associate or undergraduate degrees at Chemeketa and Mt. Hood Community Colleges, Portland State, Eastern Oregon and Oregon State Universities received Janus scholarships in 2019. Since 2001, 99 youth have received scholarships to complete technical programs, college and medical school. Scholarship funds are managed by Oregon Community Foundation.

DONORS
Our donors change lives and build futures. Special thanks to OCF Joseph E. Weston Public Foundation, RMF Foundation, Moda Health, The Standard, Daniel and Debbie Knierim, Tom and Marilyn Fink, RBC Wealth Management, NW Natural Corporate Philanthropy Fund and Meyer Memorial Trust.
“Resiliency, self-acceptance and perseverance. That is what got me to where I am today,” says Bobby, a 23 year old who finished serving six years at MacLaren Youth Correctional Facility in March 2019. At age 17, prosecuted as an adult under Measure 11 and faced with a long sentence, Bobby had to dig deep within himself to figure out how to move forward with his life. Through his participation in the Hope Partnership program, taking advantage of classes and resources, Bobby found another path.

His hard work paid off and he has a bright future ahead of him: in 2019 he was selected to receive the Soros Justice Youth Activist Fellowship. Bobby is the first incarcerated youth selected for the nationally renowned Fellowship. Only a handful of people in the U.S. are chosen annually, including lawyers, researchers, grassroots organizers and others impacted by criminal justice or social justice systems. The Soros Justice Youth Activist Fellowship, in partnership with the Open Society Youth Exchange, supports outstanding youth ages 18 to 25 to take on projects of their own design that address some aspect of the U.S. criminal justice system. Bobby is hosted at Next Up in Portland where he works as a Youth Justice Coordinator.

Traveling around the country, attending conferences and speaking engagements as a Youth Justice Coordinator, Bobby shares his poetry and personal testimony with audiences about the need to reform the criminal and juvenile justice systems. Through his commitment and perseverance in taking classes offered by Hope Partnership and serving on the program’s Youth Council, Bobby gained a platform and skills for using his voice. “The Hope Partnership classes gave me the opportunity, consistency and hope to transform my life. They showed me the light at the end of the tunnel.” In his role as a Soros Fellow, Bobby hopes to give a voice to incarcerated youth. He says, “I want them to see my drive and resiliency and understand that they don't have to be a college graduate to be successful.” Bobby continues to further his education.
